Men on Board Disabled Boston Have Nothing but Praise for Calm, Almost Casual, Behavior of Women Passengers—None Lose Self Possession—Party Dances While Waiting for Life Boats

Narrowly Misses Death

Bow of Tanker Stops Against Bunk of Man, Pinning Him Fast—All Life Boats Believed Picked Up by Steamers Rushed to Rescue—Airplanes Assist Work

New York, July 22.—Five hundred and twenty-eight men, women, and children, passengers on the Eastern Steamship company's sound liner Boston, which was rammed by the tanker Swift Arrow late last night off Point Judith, arrived today with dramatic stories of their rescue in a dense fog.

Four hundred and eighty were landed by the Priscilla, and the others by the Providence, both of the Fall River line, which picked them up from crowded life boats some time after the crash. A few were slightly injured.

The passengers, many of them without shoes or stockings, seemed to take their experience cheerfully, and as soon as the steamers docked, hastened ashore to telephone or telegraph their families that they were safe. Most of the messages added: "Please send along some clothes."

Several persons of the Boston said they had narrow escapes, but probably none came nearer death than S. K. Paige, Jr., of Winchester, Mass. Mr. Paige was awakened when the bow of the Swift Arrow crashed into his bedroom and stopped against the side of his bunk. Other passengers chopped him out with axes. He was slightly hurt.

Women Powders Nose.

Every man who had been on the Boston had only praise for the calm, almost casual, behavior of the women passengers, none of whom, it was said, lost her self possession. One young woman was observed powdering her nose after she climbed over the ship's side into a life boat. Another party danced to phonograph music while waiting to be taken off.

Three Boston men, James Driscoll, A. A. Barrett, and John P. Murray, described how the first boat was lowered from the damaged liner nearly two hours after the crash.

"When the first boat, filled with women and children, hit the water," Mr. Murray said, "it immediately began to fill. I immediately went to the aid of Mr. Driscoll, Barrett, and I jumped down among the women and discovered that sea plugs had been removed. The holes we stopped with clothing and the boat made the Swift Arrow safely."

In response to allegations of some of the passengers that the Boston's lifeboats were awkwardly handled, J. Alfred Coates, vice president of the steamship company, said he had received several complaints that the negro stewards had shown inefficiency in handling the life boats and the piers. The stewards, he added, had not been trained for such work, which was the duty of the seamen.

Ignorance of Daughter's Death.

First Mate W. D. Todd of the Boston praised the presence of mind of the passengers. "It was almost miraculous," he said, "for so many people to keep their heads and without direction quietly to take their places in the boats, rowing away from the ship in the blackness of a foggy night. A panic might have resulted in terrible disaster."

Ignorance of the fact that the daughter, Mrs. Oscar Green, had been killed during the collision, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Filbert of Brooklyn went to a North river pier this afternoon to meet the steamer Priscilla, arriving with survivors of the tragedy. Mrs. Green's husband, with whom she was returning from a honeymoon, had telephoned them from a Fall River hospital that his bride was safe aboard the Priscilla.

The couple paced the pier, murmuring repeated thanks to the passengers for the safety of their daughter. Then the Priscilla docked. One by one the survivors departed, but Mrs. Green was not among them. Steamship company officials reassured the parents, telling them that the steamer Providence, due shortly after, was expected to bring the survivors of the Boston.

The ship arrived, and the survivors of the Boston came ashore. Mrs. Green was not to be seen. Several of the arrivals knew that the bride had been crushed to death in her stateroom, but they could not tell the new to the parents. The bride, however, greeted the bride and left the pier with tearful faces.

Mrs. Green started with Joseph S. Haddock in the Yiddish theatre with her parents, she was also interested in a theatre in Brooklyn.

FOUR KILLED IDENTIFIED; AIRPLANES AID IN RESCUE

Newport, R. I., July 22.—Four passengers of the steamer Boston who lost their lives through the collision with the tanker Swift Arrow off Point Judith last night were identified today by the Eastern Steamship company.

Robert Schlemm, Boston; John P. Murray, New York; and Charles O. Copeland, Brooklyn, were identified by the Eastern Steamship company.

The identification of the Schlemm brothers was made last night by representatives of the firm of Francis, Allen, and Company, Inc., Boston, who were in charge of the rescue work.

FIGHT TO SAVE YOUTHS BEGINS THIS MORNING

Fixing of Degree of "Moral Turpitude" May Be Legal Problem Which Will Determine Ultimate Fate

NO INSANITY PLEA

Admission of Killing of Franks by Leeb and Leopold Precludes Possibility of Such Action

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, July 22.—Fixing of the degree of "moral turpitude" may be the legal problem by which will be determined the ultimate fate of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who kidnapped and killed young Robert Franks for a thrill.

Upon the development of this question, legal experts say, will hinge whether they shall hang to go to the penitentiary. First steps of arriving at a solution of the question will be taken tomorrow when the youths who yesterday pleaded guilty, with an admission in court for a hearing preliminary to their formal sentences.

Admission of the crime by the two sons of Chicago millionaires before Judge John H. Caverly, wiped out the possibility of a plea of insanity, at least until after the sentence has been passed. The defense asks permission to present evidence in mitigation of punishment based upon the youth of the defendants and their "degree of mental responsibility."

Attorneys agree, however, that if mental responsibility is linked in this case with the question of "moral turpitude," it will be the first such instance in the history of Illinois courts. Clarence S. Darrow and Benjamin Bachrach, attorneys for the defense, were cryptic in their discussion of this phase of the case.

"We can go as far as we like in the presentation of insanity evidence and we probably will," Mr. Darrow said.

Jacob Franks First Witness.

Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, however, has declared he will not agree to the presentation of any evidence tending to show the boys innocent.

The court room was given over today to carpenters and wiremen who were busy installing benches, telegraph circuits, and seats for one of the largest assemblies of writers in the history of a local court. Nearly 100 press tickets were issued.

No less than 81 witnesses may be called by the state.

The waiving of testimony, according to plans, will begin tomorrow with the calling of the stand of Jacob Franks, father of the murdered boy. It was he who identified the body of his son after it was found stuffed in a culvert in a swamp.

Mr. Franks will tell about the ransom letter which he received and the telephone call by which he was instructed when, where, and how to deliver the $10,000 demanded by the defendants.

After the father's testimony will come the statement of a coroner's physician as to the body itself. The state expects to follow this with testimony by hotel clerks and bank tellers identifying both youths as impersonating "Morton D. Ballard," in whose name a room was taken at a downtown hotel by Leeb and a bank account opened by Leopold.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS HELD ON CHARGES OF ENGINEER

Pittsburgh, July 22.—Three officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad company and two officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers were held for trial today on charges of conspiracy to deprive the railroad employees of their seniority rights under the Chicago agreement.

J. T. Shaw, former Pittsburgh & Lake Erie engineer, and a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, charged that the company had an order giving younger men who remained at work during the 1919-20 strike seniority over the older men who walked out. He further charged that the Chicago agreement covering seniority was set aside and a substitute order put into effect until February, 1924. He maintained that the Chicago agreement could be abrogated only by joint approval of the brotherhood.

PITTSBURGH-PLUS SYSTEM ILLEGAL

Trade Commission Orders U. S. Steel Corporation to Abandon Method of Price Fixing

Washington, July 22.—The federal trade commission today ordered the United States Steel corporation to abandon the Pittsburgh-plus system of determining the price of steel.

The commission held an unfair method of competition in the steel industry, and that it is made possible by the alleged domination of the steel industry by the United States Steel corporation. It also held that the Pittsburgh-plus system lessens and eliminates competition, restricts business in all steel centers except Pittsburgh, and adds greatly to the cost of steel products. It adds $30,000,000 a year to the cost of steel to farmers in 11 western states, the commission declared.

Commissioner Caspary filed a dissenting opinion in which he held the commission to be without authority to prohibit the steel corporation operating its several plants within the law, from maintaining the same prices at all its plants.

Albany, July 22.—The appointment of Joseph H. Hennessey of Syracuse and Frank M. Ryan of New York city as deputy commissioners today completed the staff of Charles A. Harnett, state motor vehicle commissioner. The appointment of William Dineen of Ogdensburg as a deputy was announced some time ago.

Mr. Hennessey has been assigned to the post directing the school for motor vehicle inspectors at New York city and Mr. Ryan will take over the duties of Mr. Harnett in the New York office to permit the commissioner to devote his time to management of the entire bureau. Mr. Dineen will have charge of the Albany inspectors' training school.

DISMISSED WORKER PUT BACK TO WORK

Another State Bonus Bureau Employee Assumes Responsibility for Absence From Work

Albany, July 22.—One of the three employees of the state bonus bureau who were ordered dismissed yesterday by the bonus commission after it was discovered they had not been at their desks Saturday, although they had been "punched in" on the time clock, was reintegrated today. Another of the three made a "clean breast" of the whole affair and assumed entire responsibility.

As soon as the employee who declared his responsibility for the matter had told his story today, exonerating his companions, the reinstatement was ordered. The third employee, however, has not been at the office since last week.

The man who assumed blame for the affair was allowed to turn in his resignation. It was declared today that a strict investigation will be continued in an effort to discover the person who "punched in" for the three men Saturday morning. Immediate dismissal will result, it was stated, if he is discovered.

NEGROES TAKEN FROM JAIL AS ANGRY CROWD GATHERS

Maud City, Ill., July 22.—Two negroes held here in connection with the murder early this morning at Villa Ridge, Ill., of Daisy Wilson, 18, were taken from the Shelby county jail late tonight by Sheriff J. J. Hudson when crowds gathered about the jail threatened trouble. It is believed the negroes were taken to Marysville.

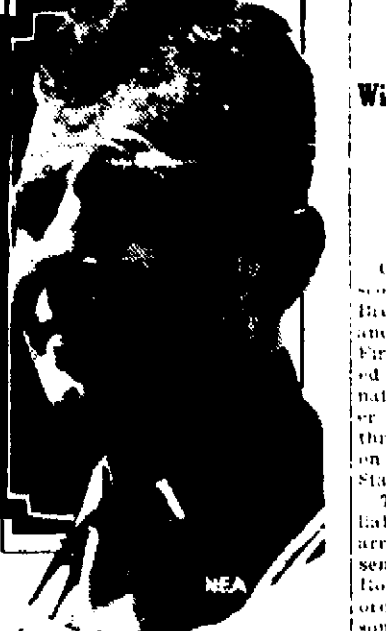

The prisoners were led from the back door of the sheriff's home which adjoins the jail and driven away in an automobile. Despite the thunderstorm, a crowd continued to congregate about the courthouse and jail in which the deputies armed with riot guns were stationed.

POISON LIQUOR BELIEVED CAUSE OF MAN'S DEATH

Binghamton, July 22.—Poison liquor is believed to have caused the death of Paul Neyschlag, who died at the Riverside Hotel private hospital yesterday.

He was brought to his home and deposited on the porch. Later he crawled into the house where he collapsed and was discovered. He was removed to the hospital where he died. An undertaker embalmed the body before the county officials were notified of the death, but there are indications that death was caused from poison liquor which it is feared is being distributed in this vicinity.

Can He Do It?

Leutenant James H. Doolittle of McCook Field, Dayton, O., who in 1922 earned the title of "The Pilot of the Night" when he made the first one-stop transcontinental flight on record, has asked permission to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu. It is a 2,800-mile jump. He is confident he can negotiate it by winging his way in the high altitudes.

Mr. Dineen will have charge of the Albany inspectors' training school.

About half of the 225 men who took the examination for the state motor vehicle inspectors were successful. Mr. Harnett said today. Some 60 will be sent to the Albany school for inspectors and 40 others to go to school at New York. Nineteen reported here today for preliminary instruction. It was said today that under tentative plans, 100 inspectors, uniformed, equipped and trained, will be on duty within three weeks.

LA FOLLETTE STILL WITHOUT COMMITTEE

All But Two of 11 Places, However, Tentatively Filled — Nelson Probable Head

Washington, July 22.—Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, and his advisers failed today to reach a final agreement on the personnel of the committee which is to have charge of his presidential campaign. The make-up of the committee, however, has been virtually determined, only one or two of the 11 places remaining to be filled.

Difficulty is being encountered, it is understood, in arranging selections that are certain to meet with the approval of the various groups enlisted in the La Follette-for-president movement. In addition, steps are being taken to ascertain, before any announcement of personnel is made, whether those selected will be inclined to serve and will be able to devote their time during the campaign almost exclusively to committee work.

According to a source in the La Follette camp, the committee chairman, who is in charge of the campaign, is to be the committee chairman.

NINE JURORS IN FALLON CASE TENTATIVELY CHOSEN

New York, July 22.—After a day of close questioning and much sparring between attorneys, nine jurors tonight had been tentatively accepted by both sides to try William J. Fallon on a charge of bribing a juror in the trial of members of the Durall-Grady company, stock brokers in October, 1922.

Failing to have the entire panel disqualified on the grounds that it had been summoned by mail, R. J. Shanahan, Fallon's counsel, examined each juror in turn, questioning especially as to whether he would be able to do justice to the case.

ENGINEER UNION OFFICIALS MEET

Will Confer Today to Determine Whether to Answer Subpoenas of Labor Board

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, July 22.—More than a score of general officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen are expected to confer here tomorrow with their national officers to determine whether or not they will offer resistance through the courts to subpoenas served on them at the instance of the United States Railroad Labor board.

This was learned tonight from reliable sources several hours after the arrival here of L. G. Griffing, representing the engineers, and David H. Robertson, president of the firemen's union. Messrs. Griffing and Robertson conferred today with counsel and Harry P. Doherty, vice president of the engineers, who was chief representative of the engineers in unsuccessful wage negotiations with a committee representing managements of nearly all railroads west of Chicago. It was the report of a deadlock in these negotiations that the board issued subpoenas to the unions.

"We are here on account of the labor board case," said Mr. Griffing. "We have come for conference to prepare our case." Mr. Griffing declined to divulge plans, and did not intimate whether in speaking of "our case" he referred to the dispute with the general managers committee, docketed by the board for hearing Thursday, or litigation to fight the right of the board to assume jurisdiction, under existing circumstances.

NATION'S BUSINESS BEFORE POLITICS

President Plans to Make Campaign Secondary to Duties as Capital—No Long Tour

Washington, July 22.—Participation by President Coolidge in the national campaign is expected to be limited to less than a dozen speeches and to involve no extended campaign tour. This announcement was made today at the White House and supplied to the press.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, said that there had been no change in the original plan for Mr. Coolidge to stay on the job in Washington.

Developments during the campaign may cause an alteration in the present plans for the President's campaign activities, but it now is the strong belief of Mr. Coolidge as well as Mr. Butler and other leaders, that executive duties must receive first attention and campaign requirements be relegated to a secondary place. Such a position is expected by Republican leaders to recommend itself generally to the American people regardless of political affiliation.

SHAWER ASSUMES CONTROL OF DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN

Washington, July 22.—Control of the affairs and activities of the Democratic national committee was assumed today by Clem L. Shaver, who has been selected as the new committee chairman, upon his arrival here today from his West Virginia home. He immediately went into conference with Cordell Hull of Tennessee, the retiring chairman, but had no announcement to make concerning his plans as head of the committee.

Mr. Shaver, in general, however, will in the next three weeks devote his attention to gaining an intimate acquaintance with the organization of the committee and plan for setting the machinery in full motion as soon as John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate for president, has been formally notified of his nomination. August 11, and Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska has been notified of his nomination for vice president one week later.

The discovery of the bodies finally settled the question that the children, having since last Thursday, were drowned.

KELLOGG ASKED TO TAKE ROLE OF MEDIATOR

French Ideas of Security of German Loan Out of Harmony With Guarantees Demanded by American Bankers

(By the Associated Press)

London, July 22.—With the international conference on the Dawes reparation plan not yet a week old, the American ambassador, Frank H. Kellogg, has been called upon to play the role of mediator, which a plan of which by the brotherhood led to the issuance of subpoenas to compel testimony by officers and general chairmen of the brotherhood.

DEADLOCK UNLIKELY

Situation Tense, However — Ambassador's Plan Concerned With Manner of Applying Sanctions

When Mr. Kellogg's opportunity came this afternoon when the French ideas of security were found to be out of harmony with the guarantees required by American financiers who are expected to take up a considerable portion of the 40,000,000-pound loan to Germany, with which the Dawes plan is to be inaugurated.

The situation, although tense tonight, is regarded by most observers as capable of amicable solution through the efforts of the American ambassador and his colleagues. On one principle all the delegations seem to be agreed—that the Dawes plan affords the only solution to Europe's ills and that the alternative is chaos.

Accordingly, the position is one of anxiety, but not of despair, and the delegations do not regard the hitch which has occurred because of the bankers' demands for protection of the loan in the light of a crisis.

Kellogg Denies With Sanctions.

When it was finally determined at the meeting of the allied finance ministers with the American and British bankers that the safeguards unanimously agreed to by the committee on sanctions and defaults respecting the German loan were considered insufficient, by the only solution to Europe's ills and that the alternative is chaos.

M. Thuein proposed that a German protest, which the first report might be adjudged by the reparation commission, could be decided by that commission only after consultation with five members of the Dawes committee, who would act in an advisory capacity. This is understood to have proved wholly unsatisfactory to the American bankers.

Then it was that Ambassador Kellogg's alternative proposal was brought forward. It was not concerned with the declaration of a German default, but dealt entirely with the manner of application of sanctions to Germany. It proposes that sanctions may not be applied until recommendations for a default have been made by the agent general of reparations and the bond holders trustee, and also by five members of the Dawes committee, who would be called in. Then the question of sanctions would be put to the reparation commission, and if there was unanimous vote in favor of sanctions all the allies would join in imposing them.

The high comes in the possibility of the reparation commission voting being unanimous; the question would then arise as to whether the nations would in favor of the sanctions would take them, or whether they could be voted against the taking of penalties held back by the nations which had voted against the taking of penalties.

Only of Action Necessary.

A feature of Ambassador Kellogg's plan is calling in five of the experts who aided General Dawes to work out his reparations scheme. They would likely be M. Palmeret, France; Dr. Alberto Brilli, Italy; Emil Franqui, Belgium; Sir Robert Kindersley, director of the Bank of England; and Dr. J. Young, United States.

It is a source of authority informed the correspondent of the Associated Press tonight that the only problem from the financiers' viewpoint was that if a nation voted in the reparation commission for taking sanctions, it might be difficult to renege independent action on the part of that nation, as long as this was possible the basis for credit was not sound.

In American official circles, it is taken that the Kellogg proposal precluding separate action by France, but the same spokesmen said that the details would have to be worked out to satisfy the bankers. At the close of the afternoon's conversation between the financial experts and the bankers, the French delegates reiterated that France was irrevocably committed to the Versailles treaty, and the interpretation regarding separate action, with which France had made the whole world familiar through her invasion of the Ruhr. That implication in Mr. Kellogg's alternative plan is as abhorrent to the French delegation as the Thuein proposal is to the financiers.

CHILDREN RETURN TODAY

Fresh Air Kiddies Leave City at 11:30 Today for Their Homes in New York City.

The fresh air children who for the past two weeks have been enjoying the hospitality of good people hereabouts to the vast benefit of their minds and bodies, return today to their homes in New York City. That is, most of them will return. A few have been invited to spend a longer time in the country and arrangements have been made for an escort party on the return trip they will not be among the browned and rested kiddies who will board the U. & D. train this noon.

Some of the hosts will bring the children they have been entertaining to Oneonta but the majority of them will be brought to the station by the Rotarians who took them to their vacation homes. It is requested that all the children be at the U. & D. station by 11:30 o'clock so that they may be weighed and measured and a lunch provided for them.

Reports from the homes of the hosts are that the children have enjoyed their vacation immensely and that the two weeks of fresh air, wholesome food and pleasant surroundings have done wonders for their bodies. Gains of weight are the rule. The children will dislike, practically without exception, to leave the country and it is believed that the majority of the hosts will be sorry to see them go.

THE NEW CHINA

Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, Distinguished Chinese Official, Delights Chautauqua Audience

Yesterday Afternoon's Lecture One of High Points of Chautauqua to Date—Important Facts and Opinions Presented in Entertaining Manner by Noted Speaker—"Give and Take" Delights Evening Audience.

Today's Program.

10:00 a. m.—Art Craft demonstration.
2:30 p. m.—Concert, eminent local artists.
J. McGregor, assisted by Edna Wallace, pianist; Alice Raymond, violinist.

8 p. m.—Address, "Modern Arabian Nights," Ruth Bryan Owen.

One of the most entertaining and thought provoking lectures ever given in the city was that delivered by Dr. Tehyi Hsieh, the "Chinese Theodore Roosevelt," at yesterday afternoon's Chautauqua session. The good-sized audience sitting enthralled for over an hour as the distinguished educator and diplomat from the Far East gave in perfect English a discussion of the China of today and a clear exposition of the relations between his country and ours, the tapestry of his talk being lightened by frequent threads of sparkling humor.

Dr. Hsieh impressed his audience as being a man whose understanding of American problems, as well as those of his native country, surpasses that of the majority of our own people. Not only are his impressions and his opinions firm and sound but he has mastered the English language to the point where he can express himself with a facility and a clarity that is surprising. His oratorical methods may seem a trifle theatrical but he drives his points home and makes them stick, an art lacking to many public speakers.

The speaker began his talk with an interesting and amusing discussion of the difficulties which the Chinese have in mastering the English language. The first part of his serious discussion began with the China of Manchuria days. During his "first chapter" he was garbed in the flowing robes of old China and with the traditional queue. As he commenced to talk about the China of today he doffed the robe, removed the queue and stood forth dressed in the Occidental fashion.

When China awakened to the fact that for hundreds of years she had been a foil in the hands of a few dictators, royalty, statesmen and diplomats, and the revolution which shook the country to its depths had been brought to a successful termination, the Chinese immediately looked to the United States government for a model after which to fashion the government which they must build up to replace the old, antiquated form which they previously had followed.

For many years American missionaries had been in China, bringing the Christian religion to the Chinese. Out of the Far East, in centuries past, came all the greatest of the world's philosophers and teachers, and from the East came Christ himself. Christianity rose in the East, traveled west, and now, from the west, go the teachers and scholars to take it back again to the East from whence it came.

Win Their Way.

These people who were universally considered and kind to all who came within their reach, had won the admiration and confidence of the cultured classes in the large cities. Many of these Chinese young men and women were educated in American universities, and American democratic ideals, instilled into them from associations in this country, went into the making of China, the republic.

Unfolding the two flags, the American and the Chinese, the lecturer declared that, looking at the Stars and Stripes, China might say, with the apostle, "I thank my God at every remembrance of thee."

Opportunities in China.

"America must come to realize its opportunities in China, its vast openings for professional men, dentists, lawyers, industrial men, engineers, bridge builders and the like. There are less than 2,000 nurses in the whole of China, less than 15 dentists, not 25 lawyers in its vast area, and only one doctor to every 400,000 people. A lawyer who can codify the international laws can rise to fame and fortune in China quicker in two years than one's whole career in America.

"China needs the pep and sagacity of Americans and coupled with her wonderful natural resources, the Chinese can, with inspiration, help America.

Dr. Hsieh gave a most interesting description of the conference at Washington on the limitation of armaments, cleverly impersonating the different official dignitaries from the countries represented; and proudly told of the fact that the representative from China used the same language as that used by Uncle Sam and John Bull; that it was the first time in history that the world gathered together not for acquisition but for renunciation; that it was the first time China came without having something to give up; that there China pleaded that the world would understand that China would stand for justice to the world and to China.

He said that China has had a good deal of a rumormongering; but that she is not so torn asunder as the press in America and that she does not need an army and navy—she wants peace to work out her own world; that with her millions to become a power among the nations; that her progress in the past 20 years has been more rapid than that of any country; that some of the factors in this progress are: first, the establishment of a republican form of government; second, a developed system of banking and financial resources; third, relaxation to past of system of classes and the adoption of a 22-letter alphabet; fourth, the rise of women to her sphere in the country's activities; fifth, the birth of public opinion through the press; sixth, the complete elimination for ever of the opium drug.

"China is forging ahead," said the speaker. "She may be politically weak, but she is morally high, physically strong, and economically sound. In China are: Independence, capital, the elements of strength and progress."

FAMOUS BALL CLUB

Philadelphia American, to Play Here Friday, Have Most Colorful History in Annals of Baseball.

Connie Mack, who will bring his Philadelphia American league club to Oneonta on Friday to play the Oneonta Giants is one of the most colorful players in the history of baseball. For years the Athletics, under his management, were baseball's wonder team and it is thought by many that the team which contained such stars as Bender, Combs, Al Harris, Collins, Strunk and McMeekin was the best that ever graced a diamond.

Recent years have been lean ones for Mack but he has been hard at work building his team from the bottom up and today the Philadelphia American is one of the best of the stands at the foot of the league, has potentialities that other managers are viewing with alarm. Given a little more seasoning and the Athletics will startle the baseball world. At present is the opinion of leading sport writers and critics.

Mack will come to Oneonta himself and has promised Roy Thomas that he will play his regular lineup. Bishop, the second baseman, was with Baltimore last year and was regarded as the best second baseman in minor league baseball. Perkins, catcher, has no peer in either league, and Rommel, the star pitcher, is one of the very best in the game. Hauser, first baseman, is one of the finds of the season. Harris, a pitcher, is one of the good men whom Al Bridwell has sent to the majors.

The team will arrive in the morning and will be entertained at luncheon at the Elks' club. Fans are invited to this luncheon and will be given an opportunity to meet Connie Mack and his men. Tickets for the luncheon are on sale at the places where the pastebards for the game can be found.

Y. M. C. A. Boys' Band Movie Benefit.

BABY'S WELFARE ASSURED

New Dressing Table and Other Equipment Installed at Community House for Babies and Mothers at (Main—Two Babies Yesterday.

Entering the room reserved for the Red Cross baby clinic at the Community house yesterday afternoon, the Star representative was very much surprised to find that several very attractive improvements had been added since her last visit. The room is now an attractive and interesting place, not only for the mothers and babies who attend but also for any others who may care to visit it; and those in charge would be glad to have all do so.

The object which first attracted attention was a brand new dressing table, two feet wide, built in and extending two entire lengths of the room next to the wall. This table serves a very utilitarian purpose as well as being attractive to look at, as it is placed there for the mothers to use in dressing and undressing their infants. It is placed at just the right height so that the mother does not have to stoop when working over it, which is very advantageous. Just picture for yourself this table with a row of infants on its neatly padded top and see if you don't think it alluring.

But this is not the only change recently made, for all around the room and just above the table is a series of twenty pictures, furnished by the State Department of Health, which show all of the necessary utensils for baby's comfort and the proper way to bathe and care for baby. Each picture has an appropriate title and underneath the picture are verses to be recited. Samples of baby's garments are also on display and a complete toilet outfit for baby repose on a table. An inspection of this room would prove both interesting and instructive for mothers of infants.

There were ten babies present at the baby clinic which was in charge of Dr. L. S. House, assisted by Miss Mary Alderice, who is the Red Cross community nurse. Two of the babies had not attended a previous clinic.

BAND CONCERT TONIGHT.

From Colonel to Painter!

He used to be a colonel in the Russian Imperial Army under the late czar. Now he is painting cups and chinaware to earn enough to feed his family. He and his folks are quartered in the prison barracks at Wundsdorf, Germany, near Berlin, where many Russian refugees are being cared for by the aid of philanthropic organizations.

ism, touch of Buddhism, want of deeper understanding of internationalism, pseudo-militarism, and the Chinese inevitable flippancy.

"Not so long ago, you in America were afflicted with six other ills: (1) fundamentalism, (2) modernism, (3) mysticism, (4) Mah Jonggism, (5) radioism, and (6) super-superstition. Now the burning questions are: Presidential election, wealth subscription, tax reform, health taxation, and mis-called exclusion."

He laid stress among other great factors in the development of China on one great essential—that of the rise of the women of China to the "equality" sphere with their brothers in the country's activities. The Chinese women have launched new organizations—clubs—journalists—enterprises and teachers' unions. The schools are training them for civic and political life. They recently held a women's national convention, stipulating that no Chinese factory owners or foreigners in China may employ any children under the age of 14. He emphasized the value of the women's movements in China united with that of America in leading to future great mutual understanding of all women of the Orient with those of the Occident.

Dr. Hsieh displayed the Chinese flag and interpreted its colors by saying that red represents China proper, the yellow Chinese Manchuria, blue Mongolia, white Chinese Turkestan and black Tibet. In conclusion the speaker said, "We must do all in our power to awaken China for when she is awakened she will no longer operate with America to save the

SAYS CASTOR OIL HAS REFORMED

Has Discovered Its Virtues and Now Approves a Delicious Chocolate Candy—And the Kids Will Hurray.

Castor oil is now good—it has reformed and men, women and children are glad to welcome it to their home. Long has bewailing castor oil been a trouble maker in the home—it has terrified children and disgusted grown-ups—it has caused millions of tears to flow and many a good child to hate its loving mother. But that's all over now, as any druggist will tell you, for a mighty clever chemist has put pure castor oil in delicious chocolate candies called Kastor Dime, and now when castor oil is needed a child just eats a delightful chocolate candy—an adult eats two.

That's all there is to it—and it gives no pain because it is pure castor oil—but you can't taste it or smell it. Just like eating real good chocolate candy when you take Kastor Dime and you won't have any use for the oil after you have tried them.

A trial box 25 cents—large box 50 cents. Ask for Kastor Dime—they are wonderful. Get Kastor Dime.

comedy being its plot on the industrial situation, there were many complications before, after "hard trials, great tribulations," the matter was fully and satisfactorily adjusted. Notable was the fact that the plot was intensely interesting, from beginning to end humorous, keeping in a line of laughter the biggest audience of the season, one which filled every seat and every foot of space in the hall. That the play was a comedy, and so fine was the interpretation of their several parts and that there was not a line in the production to which any one could take exception. A fine play, clean, wholesome and well interpreted, is what the Chautauqua offered last evening.

The interest of the hour does not give time for analysis of the production as a play, or to outline the story itself. It is enough to say that it was probably the best Chautauqua comedy ever presented, and that it is going some in the way of assertion.

An audience which went away so fully satisfied, might be interested to know who was who in the cast of characters. Maurice Franklin, who was featured as John Bauer, head of the "K" company, had had about 15 years' experience with the John Drew company, with Emerson and with Miller. Bernard Reinhold, as Albert Kruger, has played several years under the management of Helenwood, David Lindner, who enacted Jack Bauer, the young man of the play, gained his experience with Tyrone Power, Eskine Sander, and Albert Kruger. The banker, enacted the part of "Mr. Lunt" in the widely known play "The Lunt-Platts," and John Barker, usually successful as "Thomas Craig," had his experience with Leiber. The woman in the play was Eleanor Mink and who was certainly in every way most delightful, had during the metropolitan season just ended, a prominent part in Bernard Shaw's play, "St. Joan, The Woman," given as a Theatre Guild production.

Between the second and third acts, Mr. E. J. Farley briefly addressed the audience, urging a continuance of the Chautauqua for another year, and asking a liberal response today when appeal is made for guarantors. Prior to the play and between the acts, musical numbers were admirably given by the Edna White troupers. Further eulogy is not necessary, since in the minds of the audience the four members of the company were effectively and satisfactorily blew their own horns.

Chautauqua's Fourth Day.

The fourth day of Chautauqua begins this morning with the art craft demonstration and the Junior Chautauqua in the morning.

This afternoon there will be a concert by the well-known baritone, Knight MacGregor, who appeared in the Chautauqua four years ago. Ever since there has been insistent demand for his return, and doubtless one of the largest audiences of the week will greet this renowned Scotch-Canadian baritone. Mr. MacGregor will be assisted in the entertainment by Alice Raymond, violinist, and Edna Wallace, pianist.

The speaker of the evening will be Ruth Bryan Owen, wife of Major Reginald Owen of the British Royal Engineers and daughter of the great American commoner, William Jennings Bryan. Mrs. Owen has had an interesting career, with extended residence in Egypt and the Far East, and experience during the World War with the British forces when Jerusalem fell and the troops marched through the Holy City. Her theme is "Modern Arabian Nights."

'LAST MAN CLUB' HOLDS BANQUET

But Three of Four Surviving Members of Famous Organization Able to Attend

Stillwater, Minn., July 21. — With only three of the four surviving members able to attend, the annual banquet of the famous "Last Man Club," was held here yesterday.

John S. Goff, 81, came from St. Paul for the occasion; Charles Lockwood, 79, made the trip from Chamblain, S. D., and Peter Hale, 83, journeyed from Atwater, Minn. The other member, Emil Graft, 82, was unable to leave his home at St. Cloud.

The "Last Man Club" was formed here in 1885 by 24 survivors of a company, Minnesota volunteers, who fought in the Civil war. A bottle of wine was purchased at the first meeting and it was agreed that the last member should drink a toast to the departed comrades.

Thirty chairs draped in black were grouped about the banquet table in memory of members who had died.
